1970 . . . the beginning of a new era for the Adams Central Schools. Faced with an increasingly technological world, we explored our own fields of knowledge while our astronauts explored the moon. We met challenges and began looking for new ones. With our friends, we worked toward goals and learned more about ourselves. Learning, trying, having fun, getting involved--all these set the stage for

Football Victory Tops Fall Homecoming;

On the evening of October 3, 1969 Centrail crowned its first Football Homecoming Queen. Before the start of the A.C. -Carroll game, the fans became hushed as the ceremonies began. Each of the seven couples met at the goal post, walked to the 50-yard line and proceeded to the stage. The excitement came to a climax as Rosie Braun was crowned Queen by Paul Jesionowski.

Final School Days Provide

Nobody but the seniors could average four-and-a-half people per carrel. It's a great way to study.

Apparently there's something more interesting than studying going on around here. Any ideas, Cindy Hoffman?

How romantic! Sharon Workinger and Barb Nussbaum do a little dreaming about the Prom.

You're beginning to look old before your time, Cindy. Ugh!

A.C.'s very own Super Cupid struck throughout the year without regards to Valentines' Day. Who needs a special day, right, Darrell?

Discovering, exploring, learning. Finding joy in knowledge or sadness in the lack of it provides a reason to keep trying. With a new modular system and extra opportunities, we used our I.S. to explore ourselves and the world around us. Gaining unequalled experiences helped make 1970 a year for

DISCOVERY OF KNOWLEDGE

Size, Scope, Appeal

The Adams Central Industrial Arts Department offers a variety of courses which range from Woodworking to Home Mechanics. This year the Graphic arts department is a new addition to the curriculum. The department has done practically all school printing. It is an extensive and highly complex department which includes photographic equipment and an offset printing press which each student learns to handle. In the building trades class students study the forms of architecture and make scale model of homes. Drafting students learn the fundamentals of mechanical drawing and drafting.

Mrs. Stucky instructs Goldie Hill in laying out a pattern.

Dan Funk uses the lathe in constructing a leg for his table.

This year in Home Ec the freshmen studied nutrition and made basic breakfasts. They also made basic sewing projects. The sophomores studied home nursing, child care, and luncheons. In sewing they made dresses. For the juniors teas and foreign foods occupied their class hours. They also studied interior decoration and more advanced sewing. The seniors studied budgeting, consumer buying, individual projects in sewing, and foods for two people. Each student in every, class was required to prepare a home project of some type.

Juniors end the day by learning the causes of World War II in U.S. history.

Social Studies Classes Study Past,

Mr. Brown lectures to a history class in large group.

One of the main reasons for taking social studies is to see life today in comparison with that of other times, including what has happened and what is to come. By dividing their time between small groups and large groups, students were able to get background material and then make it more relevant through discussions. Mr. Hilbert, Mr. Brown, and Mr. Smith combined to teach world history, U.S. history, government, psychology, sociology, and economics.

Souvenirs from her trip to Haiti are featured in Karen Fruchte's culture speech for sociology.

Stop! Sandy Stucky tests Don Tinkham's reaction time in one of many psychology experiments.

Evaluate Present, Look to Future

The work never stops, does it, Mr. Smith? You could always quit giving grades, you know . . .

Last Minute Rushes To Get Assignments

"My name is Sue! How do you do?" Tim Soldner's never going to live this one down.

Aren't small groups great for messing around in? The freshmen think so.

"Percy Bysche WHO?" Looks of amazement are seen as seniors stare at a lit test.

Are Typical of English Students

With English classes meeting four times each week, twice for eighty minutes and twice for forty, A.C. English students had their hands full this year. Mrs. Grove kept the seniors' pencils moving as many could be seen hurriedly scribbling their final ink copy of some literature or comp assignment. Mr. Roth drilled the juniors in the lives of American authors and also led the speech class in a televised "Laugh-In" called "Chuckleberry A.C.H.S." Guided by Mrs. Wilks, sophomores tried their hands at a term paper, and in the freshman class Miss Rimmel steered her pupils toward better English.

"Got you!" Steve Bieberich and Scott Bassett act out a pantomime for English.

The sign? Oh, yeah. "Mr. Roth's and Mrs. Grove's Sanitation Dep't TRUCK." Chuckleberry had everything . . .

Mrs. Garby lectures to a senior class on England.

Teaching correct pronunciation was an important function of the language lab.

Foreign Languages Broaden Scope of Students

Expanding vistas, widening points-of-view--these are reasons for studying foreign languages. Enabling A.C. students to learn about the cultures of Spain, Mexico, and France, Miss Williamson and Mrs. Phipps combined classwork, lab exercises, and accounts of personal experiences while they taught.

Becky Teeple "talks back" to the lab in her Spanish class.

Special Classes Introduce Future Work

FLASH! Dave Clark and Allen Stoller play disc jockey in their spare time.

Exploratory teaching was for seniors who planned to become teachers. The main purpose of this program was to give the students some teaching experience before entering college.

During the first week of school, 26 starry-eyed students gazed at the conglomerate mess in the electronics center. After they had learned to operate the equipment efficiently (six months and ten million mistakes later), they were taught the theory behind electronics. Teachers were Mr. Pat Nelson and Mr. Gene Chronister.

Tom Stevens and Mr. Ransbottom go over the lesson plans for M.S. math.

A.C.'s Vocational Ag. and Mechanic Shop

The agriculture department of A.C.H.S. had a very productive year. Ag students studied every thing from sheep to hogs, from chickens to soil. A Farm Management project took nearly two months to complete, covering nearly every phase of farming. A supplement to class work was the machine shop and vocational mechanics course.

Paul Miller and Don Tinkham checking the spark on a tractor for ag. Mech.

Mike Edgell and Arlen Herschy are working on Arlen's tractor.

Hours of practice meant excellent ratings when the band went to contest.

Tim Light adds a finishing touch to his clay project.

Art, Music Develop Talent, Creativeness

Art is something almost everyone enjoys. A.C.'s art department offered students a chance to learn to draw better and to develop ideas better. This subject was enjoyed by those who made the signs and posters around school. Arts and crafts students expressed themselves through leather, paints, and ceramics.

The individual practice sessions offered music students a chance to better themselves as much as they wanted. Extra time was required as both the band and the choir participated in contests around the state.

Co-op Is Reward for Seniors' Efforts

Miss Benz's shorthand class isn't interested in anything but that tape.

Through the many courses offered at A.C., students became aware of the business world around them. General business, taught by Mr. Hoffman, introduced the students to this world. Mr. Bryan instructed all in the techniques of bookkeeping. Many girls learned the art of becoming efficient secretaries through shorthand and secretarial training, taught by Miss Benz. One-semester courses of business law and sales taught by Mr. Hoffman taught the laws and principles of the business world. Besides the regular typing courses, a new one-semester personal typing course was offered to college-bound students. Seniors who had completed the necessary work were eligible for C.O.E., in which they worked half-days in office jobs.

Barb Sheets concentrates on her bookkeeping, but Monica Jackson has found something more interesting.

Going through the files at Duo was routine for Janet Riley.

Miss Beavers shows Dave Wilder the equation for a parabola.

It's not the geometry that's confusing, it's the alphabet you used to think you knew!

"Well, um--I'll tell you how I got my answer if you tell me how you came up with yours." Algebra classes can be so enlightening . . .

Scientific Minds Work on Class Problems

"Math is directly proportional to the time I use for preparation and is inversely proportional to the grade I receive." This is a statement made by a senior math student. Throughout the year students worked problems to earn the approval of Miss Beavers and Mr. Fallis. Many a scholar found that he didn't know as much as he thought he did. A.C.'s math courses included general math, Algebra I and II, geometry, and senior math. The science classes, especially biology and zoology, made extensive use of the new audio-tutorial system, in which teachers taped most lessons and instructions. This enabled students to proceed at their own rate. Miss Williamson, Mr. Hindenlang, and Mr. Allspaw also taught chemistry, physics, and botany.

Dave Fisher and Mark Childs use the ripple tank to study various wave forms, one of the problems in physics.

Bob Grove attempts to dissect a frog in the biology lab.

Cindy Baker: "My calculations are right, therefore the book must be wrong."

Becky Sommer prepares to return a serve and help her side win in a hard-fought P.E. volleyball game.

Physical, Mental Development Stressed

Drivers' Education students began their summer school course in 1970 a little more eagerly than students in other years, if that's possible, because they knew that their chances of getting licenses earlier were improved. The reason for this was the new law which stated that those who successfully passed a drivers' ed. course no longer had to take a driving test before getting that piece of paper. What a relief!

"Ugh! Don't tell me I really look like that," was a typical response as health classes probed the workings of the body.

Challenge is everywhere. Finding challenge, meeting it, discovering our limitations and discovering our strengths, are all a part of living. In meeting trials every day, sometimes we win, sometimes we face defeat . . . Learning whether we can walk away with a smile, in victory or in defeat, is discovering ourselves, growing up. This was what made 1970 a year for the

Six Jets Named All-Conference Stars; Kolter, Minnich Gain State Recognition

Practice sessions often made the real game seem easy--almost.

This year football at Adams Central could be summed up in one word: VICTORY. Nothing could stop Coach Hilbert's Flying Jets as they fought their way up the ladder to the top, compiling a record of 9--0. Named to the All-Conference team were the following: Barry Kolter, offensive back; Paul Jesionowski, offensive lineman; Keith Rich, defensive lineman; Cecil Campbell and Steve Lyons, best defensive backs. Rick Minnich, A.C.'s leading scorer, ranked second in ACAC scoring and was also named to the team. Kolter and Minnich were honored further by being named to the All-State Honorable mention team.

Allen Stoller receives some last-minute orders from Coach Hilbert before entering the Heritage game.

NHS Entertains Honor Students in Spring

"Scholarship, Character, Leadership, and Service" was the motto of the National Honor Society. Led by pres. Keith Rich, v.p. Larry Zurcher, and sec.-treas. Cheryll Martin, the organization consisted of eighteen seniors and twelve juniors. Nov. 17 proved to be the big day for the eighteen new members who were tagged. On April 27, the club sponsored its annual all-school party for honor roll students. Formal induction for the probationary members was held on May 5.

Changing the election procedures for the Student Council meant choosing officers and representatives from among four "political parties" in the spring. Those chosen to lead the group were Tim Steury, Bob Morrison, Cheryl Byerly, and Sherri Schrock. Once they were in office, members offered suggestions, based on students' requests, to the administration throughout the year. Getting to work as soon as school started, the council sponsored A.C.'s first football Homecoming, featuring a parade, coronation ceremonies, and a dance. Another year-long task was to paint the Commons and keep it clean.

Jet Journal Becomes Regular Bi-Weekly

Junior girls order their ad for the sectional edition.

"Buy your new Jet Journal here for only ten cents!" This cry could be heard quite distinctly in the halls every-other-Friday as the papers, which were printed in Decatur, went on sale. Writers for the paper were kept busy all the time as deadlines came every two weeks without fail, but those special eight-page editions really made things hectic. In order to boost its funds, the Jet Journal staff sponsored the coat check at home basketball games and hosted the Klem Kaddidlehopper Klop (that's a dance) on March 6.

Fall Delivery Means More Complete Coverage

Adding sixteen pages and changing to a fall delivery enabled the annual staff to provide a more complete outlook on the school year. Staff members found that the work is not as easy as it looks when they attended some pretty hectic after-school and late-night sessions of writing copy, drawing layouts, and cropping pictures in their effort to meet oncoming deadlines. It is their hope that they have provided a book that will provide memories both now and years from today.

FFA Boys Take Honors in Area Contests

Senior boys work on their farm blueprints for FFA.

The Adams Central F.F.A. is active in the following Judging Contests: Live-stock, Dairy, Soil, and Vegetables. F.F.A. boys took trips to the National Livestock Show at Chicago and to leading businesses. The F.F.A. sponsored a Chicken Barbeque and a Thanksgiving Program. They had 5 acres of soybeans, and also planted Apple Trees and Grape Vines. Richard Aschliman, Dean Reinhard, and Walt Johnson made State Farmer. Dean Reinhard made District Star Farmer.

Sweetheart Banquet Held on Valentine's Day

Trying to keep a secret all year long proved to be a harder task than it first seemed for many Sunshine girls as they attempted to keep their Ideal Ladies guessing until the May 1 tea. After new members were inducted on Sept. 22, everybody prepared for a busy year. A Ma-Pa-and-Me Potluck on May 10 and Daddy Date Night on March 13 provided entertainment for parents. After an evening of carolling on Dec. 11, Sunshine girls returned to school for their Christmas party. Weeks of preparation proved worthwhile as the Sweetheart Banquet was held on Valentine's Day. The final activity for Sunshine this year was the Senior breakfast, which was held on May 22.

The Sweetheart Banquet was held Feb. 14.

Speech Club Presents 'Chuckleberry ACHS'

A.C.'s Speech Club proved that there really is hidden talent around the halls of Adams Central, as members wrote and presented "Chuckleberry A.C.H.S.", a take-off on television's Laugh-In. Sponsoring a dance after the Bryant game, members made enough money to sponsor a speech team. The team, in its first year at A.C., traveled to area schools to participate in meets. Officers for the year were Sharon Kaehr, pres.; Paul Jesionowski, v.p.; Deb Nussbaum, sec.; and Dave Clark, treas.

Artists Develop Talent, Appreciation

Numerous field trips to museums and regional campuses for art appreciation were taken by the Art Club. A Christmas party at Mrs. Weber's home was held on December 22. The club, with pres. Dave Clark, v.p. Lynnette Wilder, sec.-treas. Vicky Shoaf, and reporter Diane Hoffman, sponsored a car wipe on April 25 in order to raise money for their spring trip to Ball State University in Muncie.

Under the direction of Miss Williamson, Spanish Club members sold Christmas candy, candles, and other items during November. They celebrated Christmas by using the profits to pay for the Spanish-French Club Christmas party on Dec. 11. Led by pres. Dave Smith, the club members sponsored a dance after the Norwell game. Senior members were honored on April 17 with a catered meal of Spanish food, which was followed by a dance. Other officers were Dean Leyse, v. p.; Kathy Hirschy, sec.; Kathy Arnold, treas.; and Lois Braun, reporter.

Although they may never hit the big time, French Club dancers gave it a good try at their first (and last) appearance on Dec. 11.

In the words of French Club sponsor Mrs. Phipps, the club's Homecoming float was "a disaster." The problem? Its only support was a bicycle wheel, so it broke. They had better luck the rest of the year, though. If the club was known for one thing, it would have to be for those seven little can-can dancers at the Christmas party. Spring brought with it a car wipe and a bake sale to pay for the big project--the French dinner at Johnell's, the most exclusive restaurant in Fort Wayne, was held on May 5.

Practice Hours Pay; Bands, Choirs Honored

Competing in area contests throughout the year, the bands and choirs won both individual and group medals. The top individual award winners were Larry Zurcher and Steve Tullis, who received perfect ratings at the state contest. Also, Dave Zoll, winner in a Young Musicians' Contest, was a guest soloist with the Indianapolis symphony orchestra.

Mrs. Betty Lee served as director of the high school choir, girls' glee club, and swing choir, which was new this year. Directing the stage band and concert band was Mr. Zoll. He was also in charge of the marching band.

The music department performed in concerts all year, highlighted in the spring by the Pops Concert and the Spring Concert.

Youth, a time of discovering ourselves and one another. We learned to get along even while competing against each other, but just as important is the fact that we worked and co-operated among ourselves at ALL times. The collection of administrators, employees, and students at A.C. made 1970 a great year for the

Administration Initiates Modular System

Mr. A. F. Allen, Superintendent

Facing what seemed to many to be an impossible task, Mr. A. F. Allen, Superintendent of Schools, and the Adams Central School Board showed that even the hardest of tasks could be completed. After overseeing the entire building program, they began setting up the new flexible scheduling in order to make the most of the available facilities. Along with the other administrative personnel, Mr. Allen and the School Board made sure that the school year went as smoothly as possible in the midst of the confusion which comes with something new and different.

101 Seniors Are Pronounced Alumni at May 24 Graduation Exercises

One of the major problems facing all seniors was the task of planning for the future and deciding whether or not to go on to school. Parents' Night for college-bound students was held in November. Most clubs honored their senior members at parties in the spring before the class took their trip on May 15. They returned only to go to the Prom the next night. Baccalaureate and graduation exercises for the Class of 1970 were held on Sunday, May 24.

Class of '71 Wins Sectional Decoration

Junior boys use their lunch period to compare grade cards.

Stepping into a new realm of prestige, the class of '71 captured the honors of designing a winning Thanksgiving basket, most perfectly disguising a hall at sectional time, and setting a record in magazine sales. Enroute to their diplomas, juniors took control of concessions and sponsored a skating party, using the profits for the Prom on May 16. The luckier students escaped the daily shuttle of the big yellow wagon by obtaining their own sets of keys. The more studious juniors attempted to unravel the mysterious SAT tests, probably regretting having napped through certain key history lectures or having remembered more of Mr. Roth's jokes than his grammar.

Future Plans Begin To Take Shape for Sophomores

Although they were surprised in September to find that high school really wasn't "the same old thing", the sophomores adjusted quickly to the changes. Led by president Joy Arnold, vice-pres. Jim Bowers, sec. Steve Rich, and treas. Mike Lyons, they sponsored a dance on December 20 after the A.C. -Bellmont game. The class took second place in both magazine sales and sectional decorations. By examining their NEDT results and other factors, members of the class of '72 were able to start making tentative future plans. Ordering class rings in the spring made each sophomore realize that high school days are already half over for them.

117 Freshmen Learn Rigors of High School

Getting accustomed to high school life was a little harder for this year's freshmen as they had to cope with the new scheduling. The 117 freshmen elected class officers in the fall, choosing Dave Jesionowski as president. Other officers were Becky Braden, vice-president; Ron Gremaux, secretary; and Janet Workinger, treasurer.

October brought a hayride for the class before the winter and spring months provided social activities in ball games, dances, and parties. The class skating party was held April 13. The freshmen found themselves waiting for June when they would no longer be "green little frosh."

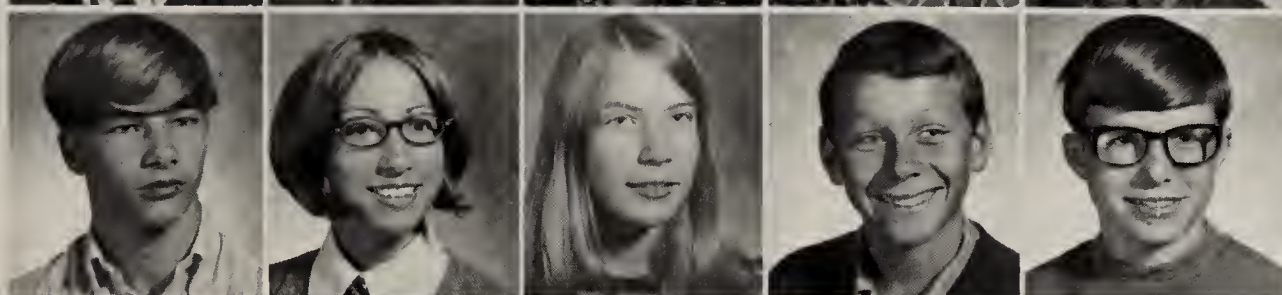

Class officers--Ron Gremaux, Becky Braden, Dave Jesionowski, and Janet Workinger.

Steve Miller, Darrell Stout, Fred Evans, and Mike Ogg attempt to assemble the skeleton of a calf in Mr. Joe Sprunger's science class.

Mrs. Myers' students have mixed reactions during English class.

Mrs. Allspaw lends help as Aden Shetler and Petra Caballero hunt for a good book.

Chrissie dolls and Hot Wheels were mentioned in most of the letters to Santa this year. Elementary students anxiously await their turns as the jolly man takes requests.

Some of the teachers in elementary school dressed up so much for Halloween that nobody even tried to compare them with the witches who ran around Monroe last fall.

As an educational bonus, the elementary grades got a first-hand look at sheep-shearing from Mr. Mitchel.

Invading Mr. Allen's office, the members of Miss Soldner's kindergarten class take a mini-tour. They saw many areas of the school on several different tours.

Rubella vaccines were given to grades K-3 this spring.

I would like to thank everyone who helped make this book possible--Mr. Shoup, for his patience and advice; staff members for coming to those hectic after-school sessions; and faculty members for allowing their classes to be interrupted. Most of all, though, I would like to thank the students of ACHS for having made 1970 a real Year of Discovery.

Ruth Baker, Editor

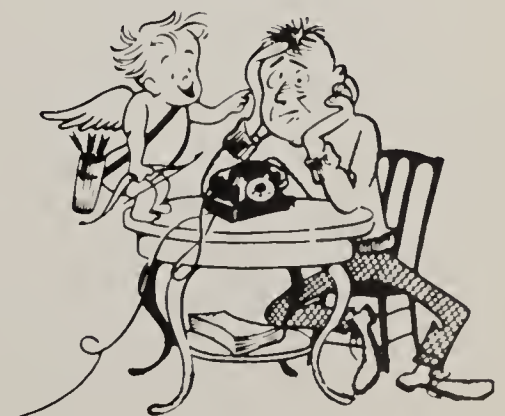

I shall be telling this with a sigh
Somewhere ages and ages hence:
Two roads diverged in a wood and I--
I took the one less traveled by,
And that has made all the difference.

In Memoriam Mr. Leo F. Strahm

Mr. Strahm taught in the Monroe area for 42 years.

"And let the beauty of the Lord our God be upon us: and establish thou the work of our hands upon us;
yea, the work of our hands establish thou it."

Psalm 90:17
